

Meet our speakers:

Johan von Schreeb
MD, PhD, Professor
Specialist in General Surgery
Centre for Research on Health Care in Disasters (KcKM)
Karolinska Institutet / Medical University
Stockholm, Sweden

Johan von Schreeb is a medical doctor, specialised in general surgery and professor in global disaster medicine. He has for the last 30 years worked in disasters and conflicts for Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) and the World Health Organization (WHO) in Afghanistan, Iraq, Yemen, Sierra Leone and several other countries. He was most recently deployed to Lebanon for WHO, following the 2020 Beirut harbor explosion. He leads the centre for research on health care in disasters at Karolinska Institutet and has published extensively on health and health care in disasters. He provides policy advice to agencies and ministries and his group runs courses on disaster medicine and public health in disasters.